Batteries and Alternators

Replacement alternators for some newer cars will have a tag attached to them from the manufacturer or rebuilder as shown on the left. There is a reason for it.

The modern alternator is designed to be lighter in weight than the old alternators as used in cars of the 60's, 70's and 80's. Claims would be that the lighter the weight, the better fuel mileage would be attained by the car. This seems to make sense but there is a trade-off and that being the light weight alternators are small, light, likely less costly to manufacture and designed only to maintain the battery for normal everyday use and it is not designed to do what the older, larger and heavier units can do and that is they are able to charge a "dead" battery in a car after the car was jump started and they do not fail in doing so.

The alternators in the modern car, being small, does not have the mass to dissipate the heat while charging the battery and they will fail due to the heat. In other words, they will "burn out." The term is used by mechanics and it does not mean that the alternator will be nothing but ashes but it means that the alternator will no longer function to create electricity.

Every winter, the shops that service and repair cars where the winter has cold or freezing temperatures, get to replace a number of alternators mostly due the cars having a weak battery that the alternator was try to charge. To reduce the chance of an alternator failure in a modern car where winters are cold, a weak battery should be charged by a battery charger, not an alternator. A weak battery should be replaced. In doing so, it may save the alternator. The auto-electric shop claims that a weak battery can raise havoc with the alternator. That said, it seems to be a case of pay now or pay a lot more later.

Aren't you glad that you own a Studebaker or an Avanti with a larger alternator? Still, if the battery is weak, replace it. A weak and ready to die battery can leave you stranded on the road if it does not have sufficient power for the starter to crank the engine.

In the days when that 6 volt batteries were used, they seem to let you know when they were going to expire but the 12 volt batteries do not give any indication what-so-ever. An engine can be started, shut off and two minutes later, the battery can be void of power for the starter to crank the engine.

THE STUDEBAKER DRIVERS CLUB - ORLANDO AREA CHAPTER

The Orlando Area Studebaker Club was organized on October 15, 1983 and was chartered as the Orlando Area Chapter of the Studebaker Drivers Club on June 19, 1984. The Charter was presented to the Chapter at the International Studebaker Drivers Club meet in Kissimmee on July 6, 1984.

The Chapter was formed to:

- § Encourage the acquisition, preservation, maintenance, and enjoyment of Studebaker and related automobiles.
- § Provide accurate historical and technical information on Studebaker automobiles, the Studebaker Drivers Club, and the Studebaker Corporation.
- § Promote good fellowship and pride of ownership among Chapter members.
- § Publish a newsletter containing news and information concerning both national and local activities, technical advice, and items wanted or for sale.

Meetings are held monthly or as noted in the newsletter and are open to all members and prospective members. Family membership dues are payable on October 1st of each year. See the membership registration for more information on our dues policy.

Ownership of a vehicle is not a requirement for membership. Many members are either looking for some special model or are simply interested in the colorful history of the Studebaker Corporation which spanned 114 years (1852-1966).
